

THE HINDU CULTURAL CENTRE IN EUROPE

'Donate 108 Brick Scheme'

Dear Devotees,

Welcome to the Hamm Kamatchi Ampal Temple.

I wish to seek your help and contribution to create a centre for everyone to learn Vedas, to have Hindu ceremonial weddings to be performed and cultural Indian activities.

The project to create the first cultural center in Europe by Siva Sri Paskara Gurukkal at Hamm has made a good start. The land has been purchased for this purpose, thanks to a loan from the Sparkasse.

The task is enormous. Siva Sri Paskara Gurukkal met the challenge of building the first traditional temple in Germany. During a visit to India, he came across a dilapidated 1,000 years old temple in Tamilnadu. The former Sankaracharya had said to the villagers that someone chosen by Krishna would come to rebuild this. So, the swamigal as the people in Tamilnadu address him, took it upon himself to rebuild this temple dedicated to Rama with shrines for Krishna to its past glory. The newspapers followed the story. The Swamigal performed the dedication ceremony according to agama sashtra in 2008.

My plea is to all Hindus in Germany to contribute to this great project that would benefit the young and old. Whether it is a generation who had listened to RK's 'Jish desh me Ganga Bahathihai' song or watching the new movies everyone need a focal point in this country to maintain our rich cultural heritage. Swamigal has planned this center for Hindus of every generation so meticulously.

Please donate 108 Euro for each family to support the construction. You may also donate on a monthly contribution for the center that is tax deductible. The forms in the folder.

I would urge you not to miss this opportunity to bequeath for future generations.
